Homeowner Consultation

Are you thinking about renovating or extending your home but unsure where to start? Working with an architect will add value and minimise risks.

"We really did get a huge amount out of it. The consultation kind of unstuck us, and gave us tons of ideas." Emily, NW6

What you will get:

We will arrange an informative one hour video conference, over Zoom, with one of our experienced architects. During the session we will explore the possibilities for your home extension or renovation.

Cost: £500 (vat included)

"This really helped clarify our own thinking. We would highly recommend to anyone considering an extension." Jenny, N8

Areas that will be covered include: layout, materials, finishes, budget, timelines, planning approvals, associated risks and consultants needed. Through the consultation we aim to provide valuable information to enable you to make the right decisions in the early stages and take your project forward with confidence.

After the session send you a summary including sketches, design ideas, relevant precedent images, a mood board and the suggested next steps.

"I found Collective Works Homeowner consultation incredibly valuable. It gave you a real insight into the type of changes we could make to the structure, we discussed different options and explored potential layouts. Siri's creativity, vast experience and great ideas made this one of the most useful exercises prior to embarking on the project as it gave us a real view of the potential end result. I highly recommend it to anyone considering a build project." Nitzan, Hertfordshire/St Albans
